

Mode of production

Health care services are divided into three modes of provision:

- inpatient health care service or hospital care
- day care
- outpatient health care service or outpatient care